

I am NOT in favor of the FCC preempting state Telephone Privacy laws to adopt one lower national standard. The Telephone Privacy law we have in Indiana is a well written, effective law. Since our law was adopted, unwanted interruptions of my privacy have dropped from 3 to 4 a day, to 2 since time of adoption. I don't want to be bothered in the privacy of my home by people trying to get me to change my long distance carrier or sign up for another credit card. If I want to change my phone service or get another credit card I can do that myself. Do Not adopt a lower national standard.
